

Rabbit goes on a quest

Rabbit goes on a quest

Author : Kavita Singh

Illustrator: Suvidha Mistry

Translator : Brian Kavanagh

published by Room to Read (© Room to Read, 2015) under a CC BY 4.0 license on StoryWeaver

Adaptation réalisée par Marie-Laure Besson

“Oh! Thank goodness! The arrows missed. I am safe,” said Rabbit.

"Someone has attacked the forest! I must tell the king!" said Rabbit.

"Are you the king?" asked Rabbit.

"No, I am not the king." said Rooster.

"Someone has attacked us! I must tell the king." said Rabbit.

"Well then, I will go with you." said Rooster.

"Are you the king?" asked Rabbit and Rooster.

"No, I am not the king." said Emu.

"Someone has attacked us! We are going to tell the king." said Rabbit.

"Well then, I will go with you." said Emu.

"Are you the king?" asked Rabbit and Rooster and Emu.

"No, I am not the king." said Hippo.

"Someone has attacked us. We are going to tell the king." said Rabbit.

"Well then, I will go with you." said Hippo.

"Are you the king?" asked Rabbit and Rooster and Emu and Hippo.

"No, I am not the king.," said Gorilla.

"The king is inside."

"Wait! So... this was not an attack?"

Rabbit asked.

"Some of my arrows missed their mark."

the king said.

"Oops!"